What is the Certified Service Center Program?

The Certified Service Center (CSC) program is designed as a tool to help consumers find quality service centers, to help electronics and appliance manufacturers select service centers for in-warranty repairs, and to provide a standard for professional service firms that desire to offer outstanding customer service.

Why should I choose a Certified Service Center?

Each approved CSC exhibits specific business practices designed to help promote a continuous strong emphasis on quality service and customer satisfaction.

An approved CSC has undergone an extensive review of their management and customer service policies, dress code, adherence to federal and local regulations, insurance coverage and technician qualifications to assure that you the customer experience the best quality of service on your product that is available today.

What are the benefits from doing business with a Certified Service Center?

- Customer Satisfaction is Our Top Priority
- Nationally Certified Technicians
- Nationally Certified Customer Service Personnel
- Nationally Certified Service Manager
- Verification of Good Business Practices
- Written Warranty and Customer Service Policies
- Industry Approved Equipment
- Professional Appearance
- Insurance Coverage
- Code of Conduct

How does a facility become CSC Certified?

Technicians and technical workers employed by each CSC applicant are certified by a recognized national certification provider.

Each Certified Service Center has a manager who has passed the national Certified Service Manager (CSM) exam, the equivalent approved management training courses, or a two-year associate business degree (or higher).

For educational questions related to the CSC program, please visit the web site of the National Coalition For Electronics Education (NCEE) at:
